

Erin Murphy

E

It's true we're drawn to things whose names begin with the same letter as our own. I, for one, love the elephant, lumbering elegy to an earlier era. And eggs, emergency-red exit signs, the human ear.
I love especially ephemera's epitome: the Etch-a-Sketch. Shake me up. Watch me disappear.