No. 15a, Jan 22, 2007- Blueprint Community shared at Central United Methodist

This one hour program at Central United Methodist church is introduced by then minister, Rev. D.D. Meighen. Quoting from the book by French Theologian Jaques Ellul, "The Meaning of the City" and quoting from Jeremiah 31; "the welfare of the city is the welfare of the people," DD introduces 3 People who are seeking to develop a caring program for a specific area of Fairmont: (1) Bob Gribben, Ex. Dir.: Fairmont Community Partnership; (2) Vera Sansalone - Executive Director, Main Street; (3) Cliff Jackson, Property Owner & supporter Blueprint Community. Gribben shared evolution of the Partnership, from moving Soup Opera from Fm't Ave to present location of Adams St., for renovating McCoy Building; removing Yost Building and purchasing Freight Building and designating area as Traction Square. Gribben discusses involvement of Federal Home Bank's Blueprint Community initiative which provides funds to develop specific projects in areas of a city. And working with the American Institute for Architectures (AIA) this plan was shared at one of many public meetings at Central United Methodist church on Jan. 22, 2007. Gribben further spoke of the Partnership's work in improving Fairmont, describing the Maple Ave. emphasizing diversity in housing and economic opportunity as strengths. Vera Sansalone and Cliff Jackson added additional notes and narrated a PowerPoint slide by the AIA with comments added. The purpose of Blueprint Community is to develop livable communities in Fairmont while utilizing adaptive reuse of buildings. Much of what was proposed in 2007 has been implemented but much hasn't. A restaurant has been added, parking has been increased, apartments have been developed, and some buildings have been re-adapted for us (old Cook Hospital and former Board of Education facility).

Father's Day History 14:25- From Monongah Mine Disaster to the first service, the history is traced
Joe Ehrmann: 49:18 Pro football player, coach & author describes masculinity truths & myths. Brought to FSU by Rev. of 1st Pres, Ehrmann presents program based on his bestselling NY Times Book "Seasons of Life," written by Jeff Marks. After a successful football career at Syracuse and a 13 year Baltimore Colt pro-life, he moved into the inner city to work with youth and against institutional racism, child abuse, violence. In doing this, he developed 3 lies of masculinity: First, that by 7 or 8 masculinity has something to do with athletic ability; Second, by Jr and Sr High, it has something to do with sexual context and conquest (whether good looking, athletics) and third is connected with economic success; that self-worth is connected w/net worth. He discusses 3 types of dads: Missing- 40% of all dads are missing in their child's life; 2nd- Dismissal Dad- One that doesn't care or dismisses all child does; 3rd is Mission Minded. Child has to conform to what the father wants. Ehrmann was made to believe he had to be like his dad- a boxer & strong. Disconnect heart from the head. His brother was brought up in the same way. He then describes the death of his brother and the impact it had on him 3 things: Life is about relationship, not about a mission; Life is about being the Father and husband for the benefit of your son; not yourself; and 3rd, how will your life make a purpose and difference? FSU Football team came Fletcher Golden 22:14- History of the Father who inspired Father's Day is given by DD Meighen; Dog - 56:36- Pro Wrestler "Dog" comes to CUMC on Father's Day and describes what it means to be a dad; RT Webb- 13:00- Minister who agreed to hold first Father's Day Service is traced

He commends people like Veasey, Cliff, Devanna, Yann, Lopez, Murphy, and Rusty Elliott. He says how much he respects Deacon Duvall, Jo Jo Retton, & Bill Kerr. Don't Under promise and over deliver. Don't obtain bar low- set mark high & achieve it. Team will always supersede human rights. 75 guys on FB team had a 3.0 GPA. All 23 seniors graduated- 21% higher than all other teams. Noel Devine and Saunders were 2 highly NFL prospects; yet, they chose to return. Gino Smith just a soph. but will be good. Discussed philosophy of Deacon Duvall influences him with punting. He wants his team to play with an arrogant attitude but fair and not ignorant. Kids appreciate doing things the right way. Encourages team to be a family- motto is buy in to the cause - I want your money- not your two cents. Our young men should make you proud. Kids need guidance, tough love and don't let exceptions slip in. Young people today are the great asset we have. And we serve, like Phillips, Young, Skinner, Beach & Prezioso did. I have a good (son) Blaine that John Beihlen liked. But he told his son play hard but play fair. Have that edge. Don't forget - to be all that you can be. 39 years when I came to Fairmont, I never realized I would be standing here. John Windsor responded. I interviewed Stewart. We sell the players and coaches on family values and tough love. What is the future of Big East- Stewart says it will be decided down the road and adjust to whatever happens.
