COVID-19 PRECAUTIONS FOR RESEARCH STUDY

- If your protocol does not involve face-to-face contact for recruitment or with enrolled participants (e.g., online surveys, questionnaires, remote interviews or focus groups, etc.), you may conduct your study with no modifications related to COVID-19.
- If your protocol does involve face-to-face contact for recruitment or with enrolled participants and it is feasible to utilize an online platform (e.g., Zoom/Skype) or other communication method (e.g., email, mail) for these interactions, you should consider switching to that format. If such a switch is not feasible you must follow all safety guidelines related to COVID-19 as outlined by Fairmont State University and the State of West Virginia.

Below please discuss the safety precautions you will be taking to minimize the risk from COVID-19.
