Techniques used to investigate the mock crime scene

Student Investigators were expected to apply information that they experienced early in the semester including:

- Blood analysis (blood spatter and blood typing)
- ID of sex, ancestry and stature using skeletal remains
- Microbiology analysis of water samples
- Estimation of postmortem interval (PMI) using analysis of larval insects (maggots)
- Fingerprint analysis