

MEMO: To Planetary Earth Council Members

FROM: Universal Galactic Governing Alliance

Greetings Planetary Earth Council Members. It is with great anguish and frustration that we must send this interstellar memo to you. We recently received word that Planet Earth's current energy usage for its electronic devices, appliances, and contraptions has, once again exceeded the energy production efforts of your coal fired power plants. Drat!

Earth's citizenry has also been transmitting complaints to our Alliance regarding some "energy brownouts" in various locations around your planet. The Alliance understands your citizens' dependence on and acclimation to these electronic luxuries, however, we are not sure they truly comprehend your planet's current state of disorder. We question whether your citizens are making the connection between their personal energy consumption patterns and the instability that is occurring in Earth's atmosphere because of these actions. We believe your current "State of the Planet" has arisen from your citizen's prolonged resistance to change concerning their energy usage patterns.

Please note your planet's chronic state of instability. An inadequate energy plan, at this point in time, could lead to future mayhem, planetary disorder, or the complete dissolution of your solar body.

The Universal Galactic Governing Alliance has decided to allow you ONE more chance to get your energy needs in order. A member from our Alliance will be stopping by soon to scrutinize and inspect the plans for your additional energy source. If we feel that your Council is incapable of making an intelligent decision, we will be forced to take over governance of your planet.

Genuinely Concerned,
The Universal Galactic Governing Alliance
